Write and Scribe Solution's Scientific Writing Workshop

Science progresses through writing, from early brainstorming ideas to the publication. Given how critical it is for scientist to have strong writing skills, it seems paradoxical that the teaching of writing is not central to science education. Certainly, some science instructors teach writing in their courses, but many bemoan the poor writing skills of college graduates.

Through the workshop the researchers will be provided the best opportunities to learn to write like a scientist a major research paper or thesis after participating in a faculty-mentored research experience.

Focusing on the interplay between writing and research, Write and Scribe Solution's Scientific writing workshop will help students to develop the skills that they will need to manage and write up their thesis project.

The workshop will make the participants able to answer following questions

1. Is the writing appropriate for the target audience?

2. Does the thesis make a compelling argument for the significance of the student's research within the context of the current literature?
3. Does the thesis clearly articulate the student's research goals?
4. Does the thesis skillfully interpret the results?
5. Is there a compelling discussion of the implications of findings?
6. Is the thesis clearly organized?
7. Is the thesis free of writing errors?
8. Are the citations presented consistently and professionally throughout the text and the list of works cited?
9. Are the tables and figures clear, effective and informative?
10. Is the work free from plagiarism? And how to prevent plagiarism.
